Three quick questions before booking a slot, to make sure the conversation fits the study on how developers use AI coding tools.

[01] The questions

- How many years have you been writing code commercially?
 - Which AI coding tools do you use, and how often? (daily / a few times a week / rarely)
 - What is your current stack and role? (frontend / backend / fullstack; product or agency)

[02] Include if

Three or more years of experience and uses at least one AI coding tool regularly, not "tried it a couple of times."

Developers who have cooled on these tools, or rolled back after trying them, are valuable too. Include them: the people who stepped away reveal what the people who stayed cannot.
